Making Funding Decisions

Since December, Give Next students have been busy evaluating grant applications local nonprofits submitted. Students are conducting interviews, making site visits, and asking questions of the applicants. They are looking to see how strongly each application aligns with their classroom mission and how much impact their funding would make. Students are also analyzing applications to ensure that the proposed work inspires change, encourages potential and provides services to help individuals in Larimer County.

The tough and important work of evaluating grant application not only helps the students more fully understand each nonprofits’ work, but also helps students develop important life skills such as critical thinking, public speaking, decision-making, teamwork, and becoming comfortable making actual phone calls to set up interviews!

Students have until end of March to evaluate grant decisions in April. Students are responsible for notifying nonprofits whether an application received an award or was declined. Each nonprofit receiving a grant will be required to attend a year-end award ceremony to accept its grant.

“Give Next has taught me to value others... I have been inspired by all the people who have decided to dedicate their lives to serve others. I have enjoyed working with and learning about the nonprofit I am researching. This program has also taught me some important life skills. For example, I learned how to sign an electronic signature and learned how to make a professional phone call and send a professional email.”

2017-2018 GIVE NEXT APPLICATION SNAPSHOT:

71 applications received from 54 nonprofits for a total of $289,941 requested
In February, Berthoud High School Give Next students braved the snow and cold to spend a day visiting three of the nonprofits that applied for grants related to their classroom’s mission, to provide both immediate relief and long-term solutions for families experiencing homelessness in Larimer County. Students traveled from Berthoud to Fort Collins using the FLEX and MAX public transport systems to build their understanding of getting around on public transportation. Students met with representatives from the Food Bank for Larimer County, KidsPak and FoCo Café. They brought scarves made in the school’s Compassionate Makerspace to FoCo Café’s Warm Wishes Project. Students also met with representatives from the City of Fort Collins about homelessness and toured the CSU Office of Student Leadership, Involvement and Community Engagement. By the end of the day they had learned more about the issue and were thinking of ways to continue their lives as engaged, community philanthropists.

Other highlights:
• Students have many creative fundraising ideas to raise additional grantmaking dollars. At Cache La Poudre Middle School, a quick end-of-day donut sale that raised a few hundred dollars was a huge hit with the kids! At High Plains, students made and sold Christmas tree ornaments with important messages about giving.
• Students at Poudre Community Academy made and donated 220 handmade bowls to the recent Food Bank for Larimer County’s Empty Bowls fundraiser as another way to support an important cause.
• One middle school student turned his grief into action after losing an uncle to suicide. Since joining Give Next, he has become a champion for raising awareness about suicide prevention.

CLASSROOM DONOR PROFILE:

Since becoming a classroom donor in 2014, Serimus Foundation has provided $26,000 to Give Next classrooms. Those classrooms have raised an additional $4,000 to use towards their grantmaking. With the support and trust of Serimus Foundation, the total funds have supported organizations working on mental health, drug abuse prevention, suicide prevention, youth mentorship, and homelessness.

“As a donor, the reward of getting to really watch students light up about a cause is amazing. And to see them at the end of the year give out the grant checks and take pride in the extra money that they raised to further their grantmaking is exciting.”
